Consultancy Services

Established in 1998, Chameleon Net has over 8 years exposure to complex web projects, and understands both the associated business objectives and hands-on technical issues. We use this extensive experience as a basis for delivering consultancy services, both for discrete projects and on an ongoing basis.

Our consultancy services include:

Web Strategy Consulting

We help clients at the very early stages of new and existing online projects to determine their web strategy, how it fits with their customer base and segues seamlessly with their business objectives

Project Specification

We are able to help new and established businesses scope proposed e-commerce, intranet or extranet projects, defining features and functions as well as the hardware, software and support required to meet the project goals.

Project Management

Chameleon Net provides project management expertise and personnel to ensure large web projects are delivered on time, and meet their objectives. Our team has been involved in high profile, complex projects including e-commerce system launches, site migration, equipment relocation, and business system integration.

Security Services

Chameleon Net offers penetration testing services to assess client infrastructure and identify whether any security risks exist. We then provide a report on the results with appropriate recommendations for security improvements, and we are able to conduct remedial work if required.

Benefits of using Chameleon Net consultancy services:

- Combined experience & knowledge of both business and technical consultants.
- Front- and back-end integration expertise.
- Best practice project management methodology.
- In-house project management system provides visibility of all project stages.
- Accountability and objectiveness of an external provider.
